

DEFENDS TITLE
OF AMERICANSAmbassador Choate Shows Tact in Replying to a Critic at a Dinner Party.

HE CLEVERLY TURNS THE TABLES

Meets Sarcasm with Diplomacy, and Urges That Peaceful Means Should Be Employed To Settle Differences.

London, Nov. 25.—Ambassador Choate was compelled to defend the United States against a sarcastic attack by an Englishman at the annual Thanksgiving banquet given by the American society at the Hotel Cecil. The Ambassador's reply lacked the rancor evinced by his country's assailant, and was the more effective for that reason.

America's derider was Sir Edward Clarke, a distinguished lawyer, for six years solicitor general in Lord Salisbury's last cabinet. In proposing Mr. Choate's health he referred satirically to the title "American," which under a recent order of the state department is now applied to all United States embassies.

Tries to Belittle United States. Sir Edward declared the word "American" implied domination over the whole Western hemisphere, while, as a matter of fact, Great Britain, territorially, is a larger power on the North American continent than is the United States.

He suggested Uroona as a more suitable title, signifying United States of North America.

He then referred to the "miserable underpayment" of American judges and America's waste of energies in providing for the veterans of the civil war and in building battleships which "could never be used."

BELIEVES HE SAW
MYSTERIOUS "DOVE"C. S. Holmquist, Formerly of This City, Tells of an Encounter in Rockford.

Attorney C. S. Holmquist of Rockford, who was located in Jansville for a time last spring, while in the city today stated that he had every reason to believe that he had seen the "mysterious" "Mr. Dove," wanted in the Leontine murder mystery, on Thursday evening of last week. Mr. Holmquist says that he and General Freight Agent Earling—a son of the president of the St. Paul road—were in the Nelson house when they became acquainted with a stranger who introduced himself as Mr. Dove and later invited both of the young men to come with him to Chicago where he was going to hire an automobile and go out for a lark. The stranger allowed that he had money to invest and didn't care how soon the investing process commenced. Mr. Holmquist says that the man answered the later descriptions given of Dove the mysterious, having a somewhat plucked face, wearing a red tie with black stripes, and a checked suit. Not caring to be drawn into the affair, Mr. Holmquist says that he and Mr. Earling decided to keep this encounter and their later conjectures concerning it to themselves.

AGED MONROE MAN
FELL FROM TRAINAnd Was Picked Up Near the Schlitz
Brewing Co. Warehouse Yesterday Afternoon.

As the St. Paul train due here at 4:50 was passing the Schlitz Brewing Co. warehouse yesterday afternoon, Edward Cleb of Monroe, a man seventy-seven years of age, either attempted to alight or was accidentally swept from the platform of a coach. He was hurled violently to the ground and persons who had witnessed the accident and rushed to the scene found him in an unconscious condition. Russell's ambulance was called for and upon its arrival, there being no other place to take unknown men injured in this city, it was found necessary to remove the aged stranger to the city lock-up. Dr. Ehlert was called and worked over the man some time before he recovered consciousness. It was learned that he had a son, Edward Cleb, living at No. 20 Chestnut street and the latter was sent for. Upon his arrival the father was removed to the home. Beyond a bad shaking up and some bruises Mr. Cleb seems not to have been seriously injured.

Dear Dying of Black Tongue. Guthrie, Ok., Nov. 25.—Hunters returning from the mountains in Indian Territory report the deer dying with black tongue. One hunter recently returned from the mountains in the vicinity of Antlers, I. T., reports seeing a dozen deer that had died with this disease.

"Mr. Choate's Reply. Mr. Choate, replying, remarked that Americans were quite satisfied with their name and referred to the election of President Roosevelt as a splendid tribute of devotion and affection to a great man. He paid a high tribute to the archbishop of Canterbury, who, he said, had "rediscovered America," and then spoke of the ever-growing feeling of friendship between Great Britain and the United States as a reason for thanksgiving.

"Many things go without saying between Great Britain and America," he said. "Above all that we should avoid all possible causes of offense and settle all differences by peaceful means."

Drink President's Health. The archbishop of Canterbury proposed President Roosevelt's health, expressed sincere thanks for the great hospitality extended to him in America, and said:

"America faces problems greater than the world has ever seen, but by a stroke of genius has found the man to conquer difficulties. We on this side, not less than brothers to you across the Atlantic, thank God and take courage because the destinies of America are safe in Roosevelt's hands."

The members of the society presented to Mr. Choate a portrait of himself by Herbert Herkimer.

FOUR MEN ARE DROWNED
CROSSING THE ST. CLAIRWavy Back Swell From Shore Capsized Ferryboat While High Sea
Is Running on the River.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 25.—The ferryboat of William Briggs, the night ferryman between this city and Sarnia, Ont., which is directly across the St. Clair river from here, was upset near the Sarnia dock early Thursday and four men were drowned. The drowned are:

Alfred Green, engineer, St. Thomas, Ont.

John S. Chreenan, fireman, St. Thomas.

John Dack, brakeman, St. Thomas.

James Campbell, barkeeper, Sarnia, Ont.

Ferryman Briggs left the Port Huron dock with six passengers in his rowboat. A high north wind was blowing and a heavy sea was running on the river. The boat pitched and tossed on the waves until within about 100 yards of the Sarnia dock. Then a heavy back swell from the shore suddenly capsized her. Ferryman Briggs, John Dolson, an engineer, of St. Thomas, and Daniel Fisher, a conductor, of Ridgeway, Ont., saved themselves by hanging to the boat, but the other four passengers were drowned. The three railroad men who were drowned were Pere Marquette employees.

Rev. John T. Harrison Wins Appeal
From Archbishop's Decision.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 25.—Word has been received in St. Paul that Rev. John T. Harrison, former pastor of St. Joseph's parish, has won his appeal to the holy see at Rome, and that an order has been issued to Archbishop Ireland to reinstate Rev. Mr. Harrison to the priesthood, but not in his old parish. The decision was announced by Archbishop Falconio, apostolic delegate at Washington, to whom the appeal was referred by the Congregation of the Propaganda at Rome. Rev. Mr. Harrison's appeal to Rome grew out of an order from Archbishop Ireland, June 16, 1904, suspending him from the priesthood because of disobedience in refusing to assume the pastorate of St. Stephen's parish, Minneapolis.

Several Thousand Indiana Children
Suffering From the Malady.

La Porte, Ind., Nov. 25.—A number of schools in northern Indiana counties are being closed because of an epidemic of pink eye among the children. When one child is attacked the malady becomes contagious and medical science is powerless to stop the ravages of the disease. Several thousand school children in this section of the state have succumbed to this strange affliction of the eye until the disease rages in the form of epidemic.

ATTEMPT TO HOLD
UP ALLIE RAZOOKTwo Toughs, One with Pistol, Stopped Him Tuesday Night—Had
Fifty Dollars on Person.

As Allie Razook was returning home from his store Tuesday night with the day's receipts on his person, he was stopped near the St. Mary's church by two men, one of whom grasped his arm and the other held a revolver in his face, saying at the same time, "Throw up your hands." He looked at the two men, thinking it a joke of some friends, but when he saw they were in earnest he caught the larger of the two who had grabbed his arm and threw him to the ground. He then started at the other and grappled with him to the sidewalk. The larger, recovering his feet, ran down Pense court, and the other when he was able to free himself followed his pal's example. Mr. Razook had with him nearly fifty dollars in money and he thinks the hold-up was the work of local "gentlemen" who know his habit of taking home with him the money taken in each day, for he was followed from the corner of Bluff and Milwaukee streets by the same men, who finally overtook him at the church corner. One was a man taller than Mr. Razook, weighing about 160 pounds, and the other shorter, but thick set. Each wore a soft slouch hat pulled down to hide the upper portion of the face to anyone looking directly at them. Mr. Razook is in the habit of carrying a loaded gun in his pocket but as it happened did not have it with him at the time.

CASING WEATHER
WILL NOT SLIP BYFarmers Are All Ready for Handling
1904 Tobacco Crop—Farm
Work Nearly Completed.

Wisconsin tobacco growers will not allow casing weather to slip by again this year as it did last, so that they will be enforced to wait until spring before they can take down their crop. Everything on the farm is now in readiness for the handling, and present indications point to an earlier change from the sheds to the warehouses than ordinarily. The prolonged spell of warm and beautiful weather has enabled the farmer to clear up his work and the time has arrived when he is able to turn the whole of his attention to the tobacco shed. The crop is now completely cured down and in perfect condition for removal from the poles, while a large portion having been contracted for in advance, growers will have an incentive for early stripping in the desire to handle the proceeds at the earliest possible date.

Member on Committee—Rev.
Goebel Chosen by Management.

There was a meeting this noon of the Boot & Shoemakers' union members employed at the Marzluff factory to discuss matters pertaining to the recent difficulty over the wage scale for the lasting machines. It appears that the local concern had been paying three cents a pair on those machines, whereas in other factories the rate is two cents. When the management sought to make a reduction the employees complained. It has been decided since the visit of First Vice President Lovely of the union, to arbitrate the matter. The union men chose Rev. Denison as their representative and the management of the factory selected Rev. Fr. Goebel. The two have held a meeting and will select a third member, probably Capt. Philly Norcross.

PRINCELY GIFT
OF MR. CARGILLGives the New Methodist Church the Sum of Ten Thousand Dollars.

The first subscription to the new Methodist church in Jansville came from W. W. Cargill of La Crosse. The amount is $10,000 and is given in memory of Mr. Cargill's father, who for many years was prominent in Methodist church work in the city. Captain Cargill, as he was familiarly known, was one of the founders of the old Court Street M. E. church. His sons left the city as young men, and have been prosperous in business. The donation of W. W. Cargill may be supplemented by subscriptions from other members of the family. The new church is to be known as the Cargill Memorial church, and when erected will be a credit to the city as well as to Methodism. Plans have been submitted from two firms who make a specialty of church architecture, and the next meeting of the board will take the question under advisement and the outlook for a new church is encouraging. The Rev. J. H. Tippet, pastor of the Central M. E. church, met Mr. Cargill by appointment in La Crosse in company with Mr. F. D. Conant and secured his subscription.

COAL SUPPLY
IS IN FLAMESJapanese Shells Ignite Heaps of Fuel Near Port Arthur Today.

WILL CREATE SHORTAGE IN SUPPLY

Predictions Are Now That the Russian Position Will Become Untenable Early in the Winter.

[Special by Scripps-McRae.]

Chefoo, Nov. 25.—From the headquarters of the Japanese army before Port Arthur comes the report that Russia's coal stores have been burned as the result of conflagrations in the buildings near the arsenal caused by the naval guns which are bombarding the fortress. The fire, which began about noon Nov. 22, continued until 2 o'clock on the morning of the 23d.

The extent of the damage is not definitely known. It is true, as rumored, that owing to the blaze the fuel of the besieged is practically exhausted, the Russian positions will become untenable early in the winter. Military experts assert that this will operate for the fall of the fortress more strongly than will the incessant bombardment of the Japanese.

Chinese arriving here by a junk say that a huge pile of coal near the railway station at Port Arthur was ignited on Nov. 20 by Japanese shells and was still burning when they left the besieged fort on Nov. 22.

Japanese Capture Supplies.

The rumor that the steamer Tungchow, laden with 30,000 tons of meat, was captured by the Japanese Thursday while trying to enter Port Arthur is correct. She is a British vessel, belonging to Butterfield & Swire of Shanghai. When leaving that place last Monday she was transferred just previous to sailing to a man who is believed to be an agent for the Russian government.

The only permanent positions now held by the Japanese before Port Arthur are the two Panlung forts captured in August. They also hold the advance works of the Rihlung redbelt, called Fort Kourepitkin, an entrenched elevation called Fort Kohn.

NURSE GIVES UP LIFE
THAT OTHERS MAY LIVEVolunteers to Care for Smallpox Patients and Falls a Victim to the Dread Disease.

Mexico, Mo., Nov. 25.—After nursing back to health the smallpox-stricken family of R. S. McKinney, Miss May Rutter of this city, who voluntarily undertook the task, is dead from the disease. Prompted by a spirit of self-sacrifice, Miss Rutter, when she heard of the malady in the McKinney family, at once volunteered her services as nurse, and to all entreaties of her friends who pleaded with her not to undergo the risk she argued that she had no fears for herself.

Believing she was immune, Miss Rutter went to the McKinney home, where she carefully nursed each member of the family in turn, and it was said that all of them would recover. However, Miss Rutter contracted the disease. There was no lack of nurses for her, for her own spirit of heroism had aroused that of other persons in the town, and she was carefully nursed during the first days. Physicians were constantly at her side when it was realized that she was suffering from a more dreaded form of the disease than those she had administered to. Efforts of her friends were unavailing and she died.

SHERIFF'S WIFE BRAVE
WHILE FACING BAD MANThreatens to Take Man With Revolver to Jail When He Attempts to Aid His Brother.

Greenville, Ill., Nov. 25.—Sheriff Floyd, after a terrific struggle, captured Albert Davis, a desperate criminal, in the woods north of Greenville Thursday night. As the sheriff was snapping the handcuffs on Davis the latter's brother rushed to his assistance with a drawn revolver. Mrs. Floyd, the wife of the sheriff, was holding the horse at the time, but she turned and faced the man with the revolver and coolly informed him that if he made another move he would be taken to the jail along with his brother.

The man cowed under the fearless words of the woman and offered no further resistance. Davis is wanted for assaulting Theodore Buchter, an aged farmer, and robbing him near Ripley three years ago. He is considered one of the most desperate characters in southern Illinois. He is now in jail under a heavy guard.

Kourepitkin May Attack. Mukden, Nov. 25.—It is believed that Kourepitkin plans to again assume the offensive. It is said that if the Japanese do not attack, the Russians will assail their positions all along the line.

The situation at present is characterized as the lull before the storm. Brisk skirmishing has been renewed. The Japanese made a fresh attack on Poutloff hill the night of Nov. 22. Their advancing ranks were decimated by the Russian shell fire. Some of the assailants secured lodgment on the slopes of the hill, but were driven out at the point of the bayonet, when the whole contingent fled. A similar attempt was made on the same night south of Erdagou. This was repulsed with a bayonet charge.

Report Japanese Loss.

The Japanese lost heavily, while the Russian loss was only thirty killed.

A band of 1,500 Chinese bandits, with six guns, under Japanese officers, coming from the direction of the Liao river, was in conflict with three bands of border scouts near the station of Kaluan early on the morning of Nov. 23. The scouts charged without giving the bandits' battery time to come into action. The Chinese made feeble resistance and fled in all directions, leaving 200 of their number dead. The Russian loss was trifling.

A Japanese column of two companies attempted to penetrate the Russian eastern flank on Nov. 23, but was met by two squadrons of Russian cavalry and driven off with severe loss.

GEORGE WISE A HEAVY LOSER

IN FIRE WHICH DESTROYED HIS STUDIO YESTERDAY.

ONLY INSURED FOR $1,000

Dedrick Bros.' Stock Was Also Damaged to Extent of $2,000—
Fire at Joe Hutter's.

Another legal holiday was ushered in with a costly fire at two o'clock yesterday morning. The cause was a defective chimney in the building on West Milwaukee street owned by Hon. Hamilton Richardson. There are two stove-pipe holes opening into the chimney from the photographic studio of George W. Wise and there was a couch placed directly under them. Sometime during the night or early morning it is believed that one of the caps closing these holes, fell out, thus permitting a quantity of burning soot to fall upon the couch. The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Bernack who resides above the Flynn restaurant. She was awakened by smoke which filled her sleeping compartments. She hastily dressed and went below to notify John Flynn. The latter, after making a quick investigation and discovering the flames in the studio, hastened to the west side fire station and gave the alarm.

Dedrick Store Damaged
The fire department was immediately on the scene and upon their arrival discovered that the flames had gained considerable headway in Dedrick Bros. grocery store just below the studio. The door was forced in and several streams of water were soon playing on both floors. There were quantities of oil and gasoline in a shed in the rear of the grocery store and the firemen had much difficulty in heading off the flames in that direction. At three o'clock the blaze was under control and the firemen and other workers were served a lunch by Mr. Flynn.

Losses Sustained
George W. Wise is the heaviest loser by the fire. He is the oldest photographer in the city and hundreds of plates of almost priceless value, which can never be replaced, were destroyed. His camera and lenses and glasses valued at $600 were destroyed and the total loss for him amounted to over $2,000. He carried $1,000 insurance. The damage to the Dedrick grocery store amounted to about the same sum. The cellar was stocked with flour, apples, potatoes, coffee, sugar, and packages, and all of these are nearly a total loss as the effect of the smoke and water. Dedrick Bros. carried $5,000 insurance.

Fire at Joe Hutter's
Just after twelve yesterday a lounge, placed too near a stove, caught fire in the upholstery shop of Joseph Hutter on Franklin street. The owner was absent and the flames gained considerable headway before discovered. The burning lounge was dragged out into the street by the fire department and the flames extinguished with the chemical engine. No further damage was done.

Brooklyn Woman Tells of Simple
Cure Forming Food that is also a Cure for all Stomach Troubles.

Thinness is one of the many symptoms caused by disordered digestion. This is well illustrated by an experience told by Mrs. E. J. Bell, 213 Walworth Street, Brooklyn, who says, "My daughter has gained over a pound a week since she began taking Miso-na. Her appetite is good and she enjoys her food very much. Her face and limbs are filling out, and she has a good color. She also has regained her spirits, while she used to be so melancholy that I thought at times she would lose her mind. For a long time she was quite weak and her nerves were so shattered that she had convulsions and could not sleep at night. Now since taking Miso-na she sleeps right through the night until morning and has gained greatly in strength.

Few medicines have as many friends in Janesville as Miso-na. The People's Drug Co. has the local agency for this preparation. A box of these tablets cost but 50 cents, and this amount will cure the average dyspeptic and fill out the wasted form. Begin the use of Miso-na at once, knowing that unless it cures, it will cost you absolutely nothing.

News for the Railroad Men.

General News
The Vanderbilt railroads have completed their independent long distance telephone line between New York city and Chicago, and the final link now is to be finished to the Grand Central station in Gotham.

The chief clerks of the Rock Island have organized an association called the Rock Island Chief Clerks' Club. There are thirty-five members, who meet at dinner monthly and listen to addresses by experts upon railway subjects.

Northwestern officials have cautioned engineers and conductors against taking chances of collisions during the foggy days at this time of the year. Train crews are requested to use due care, even though trains are not run on schedule.

A story is making the rounds of the public to the effect that the curve in the Northwestern track at the upper end of the Ablesman Narrows has been giving the company more or less trouble for several days on account of its not being able to keep the ties and rails in their proper position. The story is to the effect that a discovery has been made that the perpendicular bluff is moving and that the track goes with it, making the roadbed uncertain. It is well known that ice piled high enough will move outward at the bottom like a large piece of wax under slight pressure. The impression is current that the bluff at Ablesman is moving in a like manner and that the bottom is crowding out carrying the track with it. Several persons connected with the railroad work have been interviewed and all state that the matter is a hoax as the bluff is perfectly secure. Some accurate measurements were taken a few months ago and at that time it was found that no portion of the rock was changing its position in any particular. The curve at that point is one of the sharpest on the entire Northwestern system and John Dalton is in charge of that portion of the track. He is said to be one of the best foremen on the entire road.

NINETEENTH ANNUAL BALL OF TRAINMEN

Given at Assembly Hall Wednesday
Evening, Proved a Brilliant Affair—
Over Three Hundred Dancers.

Streamers of evergreens bespangled with myriads of tiny electric lights, tempting cosy corners, banks of ferns and potted plants, and cut flowers in profusion, transformed Assembly hall into a fairy garden Wednesday evening. Over three hundred dancers were on the floor when Smith & Knoff's orchestra sounded the opening two steps for the nineteenth annual ball of Rock River Lodge No. 210, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. As a climax to the decorative effects the letters "B. of R. T." were worked out in incandescent lights on the orchestra stand. At midnight supper was served the guests at the Myers hotel. There were nearly fifty visitors from Chicago and Milwaukee. The arrangements committee consisted of J. J. Dulin, L. O. Holloway, and J. G. Jones. The floor managers were: J. J. Dulin, L. O. Holloway, J. L. Brown, Frank M. Tracy, D. P. Davey, D. Barry, and A. Bennett.

OUTCLASSED BY DARLINGTON HIGH

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED
BY SCORE OF 17 TO 6.

CARLE MADE THE TOUCHDOWN

Heavy Team From Darlington Was Too Much—Final Wind-Up to Football Season.

Outclassed, outwitted and outplayed Janesville fought desperately in the first half and gallantly in the last half against the Darlington high school at the athletic park yesterday afternoon. Darlington scored three touchdowns and two goals in the first half and though on the defensive and within striking distance of the Janesville goal line they failed to raise their score of 17. It was by a little clever work on the part of Carle that the locals scored at all. Janesville was advancing the ball toward Darlington's goal. Caldwell was sent through and tackled, was falling, when Carle gave the sign and the play was passed to his arms and to Darlington's goal he carried it for a touchdown. It was a spectacular play but just what had been done no one but Carle and Caldwell could explain for a moment. Even that Carle was going for a touchdown was not realized either by the teams or spectators until half the field was covered. Darlington scoring in the first half and Janesville in the second half the final score was 17 to 6 in favor of the visitors.

Scoring With Ease
At three o'clock the game opened when Janesville kicked off. Darlington with mass plays over tackle and through center the ball down the field runs advanced the Janesville's goal line within the first five minutes of play. The game was twice repeated and the two goals were kicked, the last being missed. It was easy work for the misdeed. Darlington backs to go over or through the lighter line of their opponents. Janesville had possession of the ball but few times in this half and made first down but once or twice. Darlington's tactics on the defense were different than anything the locals had met with before this year. Seldom was the man with the ball tackled but with the heavy men of the back field they pushed the Janesville players back for losses and secured the ball on downs or punts.

Janesville Scores
In the second half though the local eleven were defending their goal the greater part of the time they carried the ball for good gains and succeeded in scoring. Three times Darlington was within ten yards of the goal line and three times Janesville rallied and held for downs. Carle ran thirty-yard gains for a touchdown and then kicked goal, scoring the six points of the Janesville team. The points eleven although they failed to detract the poor showing of the first half made several brilliant plays. Gooden blocked a drop kick, Ryan several times "glued" the man with the ball, and Feeley, when Janesville was forced to punt, nabbed the receiver in his tracks. Ryan bettered this by tackling the receiver of a punt and throwing him back several yards. The game ended with the ball thirty yards from the Janesville goal. The final score stood, Darlington, 17; Janesville, 6.

Janesville's Record
The record of the Janesville team has not been without defeat and not without crushing defeat this season. The team has been changed about from game to game and their playing at times has been good; at others poor. At Whitewater they were defeated by the normal team by a score of 16 to 6. The same team won from the locals here the next week by one touchdown. They then wiped the earth with Beloit academy, scoring 22 points against Beloit's 6. In Wayland academy they met a team of a higher class who took the glory that Janesville had won the week before by beating the team by a score of 31 to 0. Beloit high did nearly as well the next Saturday, winning by 22 points against 6. Then Monroe was defeated here by six touchdowns and four goals, the score standing, Janesville, 24; Monroe 0. In Fort Atkinson they surprised everybody by holding the Fort to 11 points and scoring a touchdown and goal. In the closest and best game of the season they defeated Madison here last Saturday by a score of 5 to 4. Janesville has made 89 while they have had piled against them 119 this season.

DEFEATED HEAVY TEAM YESTERDAY

The High School Second Team Won
From Edgerton High by a Score of 10 to 0 in Edgerton.

While the first team was going down to defeat the second team at Edgerton was defeating the first high school team of that place. Similar to the second team of Port Atkinson the Edgerton eleven greatly out-weighted the team from here but were beaten by superior play. The second team was very well balanced as to weight but what they lacked in this line they made in speed and consistent playing. The three backs carried the balls for the gains and the two touchdowns that were made were scored by Wright and Wilbur, half-backs. Wilbur, from the middle of the field, dashed around the end on a sixty yard run and crossed the line that Edgerton was attempting to defend, while Wright was sent over for the other score. The final score told the story of the tackling and advancing that Janesville had done and the fumbling and falling at line bucks of the Edgerton players.

The second team line-up was: Le, McCaffery; It, C. Connors; Ig, Burkes; e, Woodruff; rg, Harper; rt, Ryan; re, Langdon; rh, Wright; rh, Wilbur; qb, Cassidy, and fb, Saxby.

WELL KNOWN MAN PASSES AWAY

Col. Calkins Dies at His Home in Chicago—Was a Veteran Journalist.

Colonel Elias A. Calkins, a Civil war veteran and an old-time Wisconsin journalist, died on Thanksgiving day at his home in Chicago. Col. Calkins will be remembered by the old settlers of Janesville and Wisconsin as one of the foremost editorial writers of the state during the late years of the antebellum days. For more than sixty years he helped make history in the great northwest, particularly in Wisconsin. He was born in Royalton, New York, in 1828 and came to Wisconsin when but fifteen years of age, learning the printer's trade in Milwaukee. He worked up to the position of editorial writer on the Morning News and Free Democrat of that city and in 1852 went to Madison where he was the publisher of the Argus and Democrat. In 1854 he was the democratic leader of the state, associating himself with Matthew H. Carpenter, Judge Arthur MacArthur, and A. Hyatt Smith. At the outbreak of the Civil war he organized the Third Wisconsin cavalry and went to the front with this organization as major.

Mr. Calkins was offered a commission as colonel, but declined and was appointed major of the Third Wisconsin cavalry, of which the late Governor Barstow was colonel. He was active and nothing in the work of organization and getting the regiment ready for service. In 1863 he was promoted to the position of lieutenant colonel and served until March, 1865, participating in the campaigns in the southwest. He was a brave and popular soldier and was highly esteemed by the officers and men of his regiment.

At the close of the war he became editor of the Madison Capital, subsequently changed to the Union, being a partner of the late George Hyer. In 1866 President Johnson appointed him collector of internal revenue for the second district of Wisconsin, which office he held until March, 1867 when the senate rejected the nomination. He returned to Milwaukee in 1870 and became one of the editors of the News. His connection with that paper terminated in 1876. The following July he sold an interest in the Milwaukee Telegraph to J. A. Watrous and in 1879 the interest of Watrous was bought by the other two, the firm becoming Calkins & Watrous. That was one of his most prosperous newspaper ventures. Later he sold out his interest to Mr. Watrous and went to Chicago.

Colonel Calkins was a brilliant and ready speaker, which made him much in demand as an after-dinner speaker. He was a life-long democrat and was often very prominent in the councils of that party. He wrote the "Life of Alexander Mitchell."

In 1884 Colonel Calkins retired from the Telegraph and became an editorial writer on the Chicago Journal. In 1893 he became connected with the Herald in the same capacity and remained with that paper until the Chronicle was founded in 1895, when he became a member of its staff.

Development of Big Copper Mine in Shasta County, California's Famous Mining Belt, About Completed.

Chance to Purchase Stock at 10c and Make a Fortune.

The property of the Great Western Gold Company of California is located in the very heart of Shasta county, the famous copper belt of northern California, and with all respect for the thousands of mines that have developed within the past ten years, I do not know of one that is better or that has a more certain future, or that appeals to investors more than the Great Western. A property or rather a group of properties that will go down in history as the crowning effort of that most successful and highly respected firm, T. S. Henderson & Co., of St. Louis and Chicago. The Great Western property is virtually a city of itself of more than forty buildings which help to complete this gigantic plant. A smelter capable of treating 175 tons of ore daily has been erected. Over 1,100 acres of mineral land in one group (The Afterthought) with copper, gold, and silver ore ranging in value from $30 to $500 per ton, and enough ore in sight to keep the present smelter in operation for ten years.

The company's property has an ore zone fully 600 feet wide, and for more than 3,000 feet this mighty ledge can be traced across the mountain. This is a wonderful property and one that will take fifty to seventy-five years to work out. For nearly three years this company has been at work day and night with the result that at the present time a well-developed mine is in evidence. The present smelter will be in operation before January 1, 1905, and then the dividends will come this way.

Very little more of the stock in the Great Western will be sold, only enough to pay current expenses. The last carloads of machinery are arriving to complete and equip the plant in full. Stock is being taken up very fast by its present stockholders at the low price of 10c per share. If it is worth anything at all, it is worth 50c per share, today.

The Great Western is a mine to become enthusiastic about and is certainly well worth putting money into. It is a stock that is safe; the board of directors are honest, and I believe I am safe in saying that the management by these well-known business men is just as careful as that of any banking institution in the city of Janesville. This is a company whose stock a poor man can put money in safely, with no danger of being frozen out. If you have only $25 it is as safe as $1,000. This is what I call legitimate mining.

The writer has known the ins and outs of the company for over two years and knows what he is talking about.

THE MAN OR WOMAN WHO IS SO FORTUNATE AS TO GET A FEW
OR MANY SHARES OF THE GREAT WESTERN STOCK CAN DOUBLE
THEIR MONEY INSIDE OF SIX MONTHS. OR TO BE CONSERVATIVE I WILL FURTHER STATE THAT ANYONE WHO WILL BUY
1000 SHARES AT 10c PER SHARE,
$100.00, HIS 1000 SHARES IN ONE
YEAR'S TIME WILL BE WORTH $1000.00.

Who are buying this stock, bankers, lawyers, ministers, clerks, farmers? Yes, prominent men of the city of Janesville. What are you doing with your money, getting 3, 4, 5 and 6 per cent?

You can get 50 per cent in the Great Western, so paste this in your hat and see if what I am telling you will not prove true. Put your money into good mining stock. It is better than land; hard times does not affect it. This is what Cecil Rhodes, the late mining king says of mining. "I speak advisedly and say what every man who has investigated knows to be the truth, that less money is lost proportionally in mining and in investments in mining stocks, than in any business or investment on earth, and further state that money invested in good mining stocks is safer than in a bank, than in mortgages, railroads, securities, municipal or government bonds."

Do not fail to secure some stock in the Great Western Gold Co., of California. If you are interested drop me a postal, it will cost only one cent and I will present to you the last souvenir letter on the Great Western Gold Co., and its properties. If you have some money to invest send me at once, for this stock will be closed up in a very short time.

The way to wealth is as plain as the way to market. It depends chiefly on two words, Great Western.

Coming Attractions.

Announcements from New York say that the new play in which Mrs. Leslie Carter will star bears the title of "Adren," and is the product of the joint authorship of David Belasco and John Luther Long. Mr. Belasco refrains from giving any definite idea of the theme or plot of the drama, but denies the report that it is a historical tragedy. The role of "Adren" is said to be a liberal departure from anything which Mrs. Carter has yet undertaken, although of the emotional type with which she has become identified.

THE OPEN SHOP.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in his statement addressed to the annual convention of the Federation deals interestingly with many matters affecting the interests of labor. While we may not agree with many things that he says, we must in fairness recognize his evident sincerity and honesty of purpose, and we are constrained to express a warm sympathy with the cause presented by his Federation. We have always believed in the principle of organization of labor, and while many of the practices of organized labor have represented a misapplication of the principle in which we believe, we must recognize the fact that, on the whole, organized labor has been a good thing for the working man in the United States.

We purpose to refer to only one of the points discussed by Mr. Gompers in his annual report—namely, the question of the "open shop." Mr. Gompers claims that organized labor has the right to make a collective bargain which shall have an exclusive feature, and insists that a union can properly make arrangement with an employer whereby the employer contracts to employ no one but members of the union. He argues, in fact, that what organized labor calls the "union shop" in no sense "involves a denial of the right of every man to sell his labor as he may see fit, nor the employer to hire such labor; in fact it is a confirmation of that right. Employers have the lawful right to hire any labor they may choose, but it does not give them the right to impress workmen or to enslave them or to drag them into a factory on any terms the employer may choose to grant as an expression of his kindness."

Mr. Gompers is perfectly right. We have no quarrel whatever with this statement of the case. But the principle of freedom of contract is the foundation of the "union shop doctrine," as Mr. Gompers states it, and organized labor must absolutely concede in practice as well as in principle the right of an employer to hire non-union men at any time if he so pleases, just as in cases where the rights of the community are not involved the employer concedes the right of union labor to strike. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and the thing is as broad as it is long.

Union labor may rightly aim at closing the "shop" by making it to the advantage of the employers to deal only with union men. By this we do not mean intimidation of the employer, but we mean the making of union labor legitimately more attractive by reason of its greater efficiency, than non-union labor. If union labor having done this will keep the union open to all who wish to join it and obey its rules, no one has just cause for complaint. The thing that is repugnant to fair play and common sense on either side of the controversy is the establishment by force or otherwise of a monopoly. Exclusive dealing per se is not obnoxious to justice, but it may readily become so in practice.

The "shop" must always be "open." In the sense that every good workman must have his natural opportunity to work either inside the union and through the union, or outside it. If the "shop" is closed to non-union men, the union must be opened to every good man who wants to join it. If the union is closed, the "shop" must be open. That seems to us to be the fundamental principle in the whole matter, and we are glad to see that there is nothing in Mr. Gompers' statement that is contrary thereto.

THE FREIGHT CLAUSE.

The freight clause asked for by the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville Inter-urban Co., is a reasonable request, and should be granted without adverse discussion. While it will benefit the road it will benefit the city in more ways than one.

It is a well recognized fact among Janesville merchants that the trade of the city has fallen off materially during the past ten years. Beloit is drawing heavily on the county trade while Evansville and Edgerton are coming to the front as trading centers.

The county seat needs every stimulus that can be furnished, as well as concentrated efforts on the part of Janesville business men.

The fact that the Madison line has not yet been built is cause for general regret, and it is hoped that the enterprise may be started at no distant day. In the mean time the road that is in operation should be given every encouragement. The road is doing a good passenger business, and many patrons of the road come to Janesville to trade. The purchases would be much larger if the road was permitted to handle parcel freight, and it is safe to say that if the question could be submitted to the vote of the business men, it would pass without opposition.

The city needs all the help that the council can render. The freight clause will harm no one, and it will result in great benefit to business interests.

THE COLORADO CONTEST.

It is unfortunate that the result of the Colorado election is doubtful. The state was carried by Roosevelt, but Gov. Peabody has apparently been defeated. He alleges gross fraud, however, and is claiming that he is elected, and he is not a man to submit tamely when he believes that he has a right on his side. There is more than politics involved in the issue, for Governor Peabody is identified with the vigorous policy which resulted in the defeat of the Western Federation of Miners in their recent strike. But for him the miners in the Cripple Creek region might have won a victory.

Colorado has already suffered greatly from the long and bitter strike, and it would be unfortunate indeed if she should now be subjected to the injury and possible disorder of a long contest over the election.

It may be said, however, that the mining interests in the state, while they would deplore the defeat of Governor Peabody, are confident that it would not lead to a return of the former strike condition. His opponent in the contest for governor has since the election declared that he will faithfully execute the laws as he finds them. He will, moreover, be subjected to the check of a republican legislature, while the chief officials in the Cripple Creek are men who are in sympathy with the citizens' movement, and will sternly oppose any attempt at lawlessness.

JANESVILLE AND BELOIT

The fact developed at the Twilight club meeting the other night, that a single factory in Beloit employing 1,500 men, pays out more money in wages than the entire industries in Janesville. Beloit is to be congratulated. The city also has more school children and voters than the Bower City, which indicates that it also has a larger population.

The only trouble with Beloit is, that she does not keep up her share of expense. Janesville pays an assessed valuation of about $3,000,000 worth more property than Beloit, and also pays $8,000 more in taxes. There is evidently something wrong with the equalization, and it would seem that a revision is necessary in the interests of justice.

HOW THE PEOPLE CAST THEIR VOTES

OFFICIAL RETURNS OF THE RECENT ELECTION GIVEN.

PRES. ROOSEVELT'S PLURALITY

Governor Had Fifty-One Thousand Odd Votes—Thomas Heads State Ticket.

After several days of waiting the official returns have at last been counted and are now officially sealed. President Roosevelt has received the largest vote ever given for a president by Wisconsin. His plurality is only 152,235 and yet Parker's campaign managers hoped to swing Wisconsin into the democratic column, previous to the great landslide which occurred November 8th. Judge Parker received a total of 125,503; Delos, social democrat, 27,170; and Roosevelt, 27,958.

For Governor
Governor La Follette was re-elected by a plurality of 152,235. His total vote was 226,955. George W. Peck received a total of 175,262. Edwin Scott, National Republican, had a total of 119,290, and Arnold, the social democratic candidate, 24,116. For lieutenant governor, James Davidson, the republican nominee, received a plurality of 92,080. His total vote was 242,040. Rath, democratic, received 147,928. Lay, National Republican, 10,920, and Annanson, social democrat, 21,116. For secretary of state, Houser received a plurality of 97,505. His total vote was 244,612. Nolan, democratic, received 147,108. Holman, National Republican, 10,712, and Stoll, social democrat, 26,557.

Leads the Governor
For state treasurer, Kempf, the republican nominee, a self-confessed defaulter and cast out of office by the republican governor and disapproved by the official ring, ran ahead of the governor's vote, receiving a plurality of 85,992. Jensen, the democratic nominee, received a total of 151,115. Wollaefer, National Republican, received 13,731, and Luther, social democrat, 27,106. For attorney general, Sturdevant, republican, had 98,223. His total vote was 246,332. Wolf, democratic, received a total of 147,004, and Classon, National Republican, 10,534. For railroad commissioner, Thomas, republican, had a plurality of 100,051. His total vote was 247,081. Hanton, democratic, 147,030. Tarbox, National Republican, 10,912. Briggs, social democrat, 26,284. For insurance commissioner, Host, republican, had a plurality of 95,538. His total vote was 242,577. Fetzer, democratic, received a total of 147,039. Roentz, National Republican, had 11,208, and Zander, social democrat, had 26,224.

The Primary
The primary bill was carried and becomes a law by the wish of 130,034 voters of the state, only 82,287 voting against it. This gives it a plurality of 46,747. Among the congressmen, Cooper goes back in the first district with a plurality of 11,746; Adams in the second district, with a plurality of 7,421; Babcock in the third, with 585. O'Brien in the fourth had a plurality of 6,511. Stafford carried the fifth district by a plurality of 6,511; Wolcott, the only democratic congressman in the state, was re-elected by a plurality of 2,978 in the sixth district. Escott carried the seventh district by 15,611; Davidson the eighth by 12,341; Minor the ninth by 6,640; Brown the tenth by 15,379, and Jenkins the eleventh by 22,262.

In the Senate
In the senate the majority of the second is returned. Frothingham, republican in the fourth, was victorious. Humm, 41, social democrat, carried the sixth; Roehr, republican, the eighth; Frear, republican, the tenth; Sanborn, republican, will represent the twelfth. Wilcox won in the fourteenth. Smith, democratic, carried the eighteenth. Stevens, republican, carried the nineteenth; Wolf, republican, the twentieth; Whitehead, republican, the twenty-second; Noble, republican, the twenty-fourth; Stoddard, republican, the twenty-sixth; Munson, republican, the twenty-eighth; Wright, republican, the thirtieth; and Morris, republican, the thirty-second.

Makeup of the Legislature
The next legislature will, with one seat to be contested, stand on joint ballot 111 republicans, 16 democrats, and 5 social democrats. The senate will consist of 15 newly elected and 12 holdover republicans, a total of 27; 1 newly elected and 3 holdover democrats, a total of 4, and 1 newly elected social democrat. The assembly will consist of 83 republicans, 12 democrats, and 4 social democrats. There is an odd tangle at Eau Claire, where the one contest will be reported to the legislature for adjustment. In the first district John H. Fleming, democratic, was given 760 votes, and J. H. Fleming, democratic, 511 Charles A. Evans, republican, was given 1,049 votes; Charles Evans, republican, 107, and Christ Evans, republican, 202; Granville H. Hurd, prohibitionist, was given 224 votes, and Granville H. Hurd, prohibitionist, 241. Both of the Flemings are supposed to be the same man, wrongly reported by the election officers. All three Evanses are supposed to be the same man, but on the face of the returns Charles A. Evans, republican, is elected. If all the Evans votes are for one man and all the Fleming votes for one man Fleming is elected. The same error in the prohibitionist vote does not affect the result.

PREFERS DRESSES TO MEN'S GARB

FRANK HELLER DRESSED AS A WOMAN EACH EVENING.

EVERY DETAIL WAS CORRECT

Claimed He Received Mental Employment from His Strange Habit—Is Adjudged To Be Insane.

Partially garbed in the attire of women, with wrist tightly laced by a new corset and wearing long stockings and gaudy garters and a woman's shirt-waist, Frank Heller, a laborer who lives two miles and a half north of the city, sits in the county jail waiting the signing of commitment papers which will send him to the hospital for the insane at Mendota. On the table in the sheriff's office is the rest of his paraphernalia of a woman. Delicate ribbons have been run through the corset cover; the stockings are of fancy design, the bustle up-to-date, the collar and handkerchiefs trimmed with costly lace.

Strange Story
Heller's story is a peculiar one. For two years and a half he has made his home on the Hart farm on the river road north of the city. During the day he has worn men's outer apparel but has always dressed otherwise as a woman. At evening, when his work is done, he has dressed in his gaudy garments. From the tie of his dandy oxfords to the face of his collar he is to the observer a woman. All night long he has worn this garb and only during the few hours he has slept in a woman's night gown trimmed with dainty lace and ribbons, has been quiet. For nearly three years this has been going on and finally after threatening the lives of his wife and three-year-old son he was taken in custody by Sheriff Appleby Wednesday night and this morning examined as to his sanity by Drs. James Gibson and Buckmaster and adjudged insane.

The First Warning
Two weeks ago H. C. Dorge, superintendent of the Jefferson ice company of Chicago, visited Sheriff Appleby to confer with him regarding Heller. It appears that shortly before this Mrs. Heller had fled from her home to Chicago where her mother, Mrs. Danker, lives, fearing for her life. Heller had threatened her life. He had stood over her and her thirteen-year-old son with loaded revolver and threatened to kill them at once. Acting under Sheriff Appleby's advice, Mrs. Heller returned from Chicago last Wednesday and swore out a warrant before Judge Filchell against her husband, charging him with having threatened to kill her. Wednesday night Sheriff Appleby drove to the farm and took Heller in custody as he was finishing his work about the barn. Caught too quickly to use the two revolvers he carried, Heller was brought to the jail and searched and then locked up.

Strange Costume
Heller was dressed in trousers and coat of a man when arrested, but his inner garb was that of a woman. Corset, stockings, corset covers, underwear and all was trimmed with dainty lace and of the latest mode. Scattered about the house, ready to put on when he returned from work were the following articles: A corset cover, trimmed with pink ribbons; long black stockings with open work and embroidery; red garters; ladies underwear; a collarette, trimmed with dainty lace; white shirt waist; a silk high heels; a bustle; three petticoats, and two black skirts.

Examined by Physicians
When examined by the physicians this morning Heller begged in a most sane manner to be allowed to leave. He said he dressed as a woman because it pleased him; that he secured a mental pleasure while garbed as a woman. He remembered nothing of having threatened his wife with a revolver. Eight years ago it seems that Heller was thought insane by Chicago friends. He was taken in custody by the police, but after a fight with eight blue coats in which he got the best of the argument he escaped. Since then he has been acting queerly and during the past two years has terrorized his wife, being inhuman at times towards his two surviving children—a boy aged thirteen and a little baby aged three.

This afternoon he was playing cards in the jail with two other prisoners. His corset, tightly laced at the waist, and his broad shoulders and strong face with a mustache, show his wonderful strength. Coupled to this, his free use of two loaded revolvers made him a bad man to fool with. Heller and Sheriff Appleby are lucky in his clever handling of the case, as Heller had sworn he would never go to an asylum.

WHITEWATER BOY VISITING HERE WANTED FOR THEFT

But Ernest Steine Who Had Been Stopping at Goldfish Home, Had Departed Monday.

Ernest Steine of Whitewater, a guest at the home of Louis Goldfish, junk dealer, at 58 Pleasant street until Monday, was wanted by the Whitewater police Wednesday evening. The youth had been here for a few days but had departed on Monday for the charge of stealing a pocket-book containing two gold Russian coins valued at $10 and some paper money, according to the communication received from Chief William Holmes.

DAY WAS FOR THE GOLFERS; SKATERS WERE DISGUSTED

"Just a year ago today we were skating on the gashouse pond," said "Dick" Fleck last evening. "It was good skating, too, the ice being solid and smooth." The fine weather yesterday was enjoyed by the golfers, but the skaters were disgusted. There were about thirty at the links including Mr. Rockwell and a friend from Beloit.

WEDDING BELLS ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Miss Gertrude Green and Harry Turner of Rome, Wis., Married at Three Yesterday.

Harry A. Turner of Rome, Wis., and Miss A. Gertrude Green were wedded at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Green, 101 Prairie avenue, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Tippet in a bower of palms which had been erected in the parlor. Only relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. At the conclusion of an elaborate dinner served on small tables tastefully decorated with smilax and carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Turner departed on the 6:50 train for Milwaukee where they will spend a portion of their honeymoon trip of two weeks. After January 1, they will be at home at Edgerton, Wis., where the groom owns a large farm. The bride is one of the most popular of Janesville's young ladies. Until very recently she has been superintendent of the primary department of the Central Methodist Sunday school and has also been prominently identified with the work of the Epworth league here. She resigned her position as bookkeeper at the Lowell Hardware Co.'s store only a few weeks ago. Among those present at the wedding were: T. B. Houfe of Edgerton, an uncle of the bride; Miss Grace Green of Hammond, Ill., a sister; her father, F. H. Green of Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. FELLED BY HEAVY IRON SCENE-WEIGHT

Burt Hodgins, Actor in "The Village Postmaster," Sustained Serious Accident Last Night.

Large audiences greeted the afternoon and evening performances of "The Village Postmaster," a conventional rural comedy-drama, at the Myers theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. Fred Mower as "Seth Huggins," Mrs. Mower as "Mrs. Charles Gibbs—a motherly soul," and Bernard Cavanaugh as the doddling "Uncle Springer," were all good in their parts and Amy Hamilton as "Hattie Burgess—a coquette" made a hit with her mournful song of the old maid. Just before the curtain was to be rung up for the second act last evening an accident happened which nearly ended the performance with a tragedy. Burt Hodgins who acts as stage manager and also plays the part of the sexton "Ebenzer Todd," was stooping to rearrange a stool when a fifteen pound scene-weight fell thirty feet from the fly gallery and struck him on the back, just below the neck. The man was felled to the floor and the whole upper part of his body was, for a time, paralyzed by the shock. Dr. Woods was hastily sent for and a cot was improvised in one of the dressing rooms. It was feared at first that the unfortunate actor's spine was broken but examination proved this not to be the case. Although suffering severe pain from the accident, the young man was able to accompany the show to Watertown this morning. Hodgins was until recently stage manager of the Irish theatre at the St. Louis exposition. Bernard Cavanaugh took his part in the play and, except for a little longer entrance than usual, the audience had no intimation that anything had gone wrong. Manager Frank G. Cotter being unwilling to disturb and distress prize, Miss Belle Connell second and Mrs. W. T. Flaherty the lucky number prize. A box of cigars, donated by Thomas F. McKelvey, was drawn by John Nolan holding number 137.

Exchange: Perhaps it was natural that the irrigation congress at El Paso should adjourn to witness a bull-fight. Informal and irregular irrigation congresses in large and small cities frequently adjourn for a few minutes when some important event like a dog-fight is being pulled off, for they always know their seats will be saved for them till they get back. Doubtless, too, the irrigation congress found it all the pleasanter to go back and irrigate when the intellectual and moral bull-fight was over.

NOT FOR BEST FARM

In the State.

"I saw so much in the papers about the wonderful cures effected by Pyramid Pile Cure, I determined to give it a trial. I bought from my druggist one fifty-cent box and used it as directed, and by the time I had used the last 'Pyramid' I was entirely cured; in four days after I began to use the 'pyramids' all inflammation was gone. I was perfectly easy all the time, the excessive discharge stopped at once, and stools became easy and gentle.

"I was unable to get my own firewood for four months, and half the time when I could walk I had to walk half bent. I used many pile remedies, salves and ointments, all to no effect until I used one fifty-cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and was cured.

"I would not be afflicted with piles as I was for four months ago for the best farm in the state of Arkansas. I can give proof and reference of the wonderful cure to all who are afflicted as I was. Please publish my letter that I may advise the afflicted." W. E. Wallin, Pigot, Ark., Box 26.

The experience of Mr. Wallin is that of thousands of others who suffer for years with the most painful form of hemorrhoids, or piles, and after trying everything they hear of, give up all hope of a cure and look for temporary relief only. To all such a little book published by Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., brings glad tidings, as it tells all about the cause and cure of piles, and is sent free for the asking.

CHAPTER XXI.

Breaking Old Ties.

On the Thursday afternoon following his interview with General Carden, Blake stroled into his favorite club. He was chatting with Kingsley when Arthur Morris arrived, and at the first opportunity led Blake to a secluded corner.

"Padon me, old chap, I don't often talk business after hours," apologized Morris; "you will excuse me for mentioning a little stock matter, won't you?"

"Certainly, Morris. What's up?"

Morris looked cautiously around and dropped his voice to a whisper. "Once in a while I get hold of a good thing, and I've got one now," he began. "There's going to be a boom in L. & O."

"Yes? What makes you think so, Morris?"

"Can't go into explanations, old chap, but you buy a little L. & O. When it drops below 25 it will take a jump of eight or ten points. Take my word for it, old chap!"

"Much obliged to you, Morris," Blake took out his memorandum book and carefully made a note of the proffered advice. "I imagine you've got control of the stock. You hadn't tell me, old man—I'll do my own guessing. We Yankees are great on guessing."

Blake ordered his coachman to drive to the Bishop residence. He lay back on the cushioned seat and laughed softly. "To think that such a bound is engaged to Jessie Carden! I fear Miss Carden is too fond of money. Well, money's a good thing, but if I were a woman I wouldn't marry Morris if he had a billion. And John's got enough to buy and sell him."

The carriage drew up at the Bishop residence. General Carden greeted Blake in the drawing-room. It was restful to contemplate this abode, to breathe the air of domestic luxury, and to contrast it with the frigid elegance of the bachelor apartments where his recent years had been spent. Blake's eyes wandered along the walls until they rested on a portrait—that of Jessie Carden. He paused in the middle of a sentence, his eyes riveted on the canvas.

"A portrait of my daughter, Jessie—one of Steinbach's best productions," exclaimed General Carden, with fatherly pride, mistaking Blake's amazement for polite admiration. "She returned from abroad only a few days ago. Ah, here she comes now!"

As he spoke Blake heard the faint rustle of silk and the music of laughing voices. The portieres parted, and Mrs. Bishop entered with Jessie and her cousin, Edith Hancock. With old-school dignity, General Carden presented James Blake.

There is born in every man's brain the image of an ideal woman; the faint fatus of fancy hovering above the swamps of realism. James Blake's ideal was dethroned the moment he looked into Jessie Carden's eyes he felt the mysterious thrill of her presence.

After a delightful hour spent over dinner, during which Blake was in lively humor, the young ladies left the general and his guest to the enjoyment of cigars. For the first time in his life Blake would willingly have sacrificed the soothing delights of the weed. He was glad when his host gave the signal and conducted him to the drawing-room, where they found Jessie and Edith awaiting them.

At the general's request Jessie played several of his favorite selections, Edith standing by her side and deftly turning the music pages for her. Then they sang a duet: a German folk song. Jessie's voice was a pure contralto—tender, rich and wonderfully expressive in its timbre. Blake was passionately fond of music and, though he had been given little opportunity to cultivate his decided natural talents, was nevertheless an excellent singer and a capable critic. "That was grand!" he exclaimed, his handsome face aglow with admiration of the music. "I have never heard Wanderer's Nachtlied rendered more exquisitely. Please favor me with Der Tannenbaum, will you?"

"Willingly," said Jessie, as Edith smiled her assent. "But Der Tannenbaum is much more effective with a tenor part. You sing, do you not, Mr. Blake?"

"Something tells me you do."

"I'm sure Mr. Blake sings," asserted Edith. "Come, Mr. Blake, the general shall be our audience!"

"I have been charged with singing, but never by such fair accusers," laughed Blake, stepping forward. "I trust the general will not mete out a punishment to fit the crime. Sing the English translation and I will do my best to carry a part."

Blake acquitted himself famously. In San Francisco clubs and social circles his clear, strong voice had added to his popularity, but never did he sing so well as on that night standing by Jessie Carden's side.

General Carden applauded vigorously and demanded an encore. The trio sang several songs, and the old soldier lay back in his arm-chair and let his mind drift back to the hours when the one of whom Jessie was the image lifted her sweet voice in the ballads he loved to hear. At his request they sang "Douglas, Tender and True," "Robin Adair," "The Blue Bells of Scotland," "Annie Laurie," and several old war songs.

Then Jessie proposed a rubber of whist, and in the cut she became the partner of James Blake. Jessie played well and they defeated the general and Edith.

"You don't know what a victory we have won!" declared Jessie, her eyes sparkling with pleasure. "Papa and Edith think themselves invincible, and this is their first defeat. Let's go to the conservatory. I want to show Mr. Blake those lovely bulbs I sent you from Holland," and leaving Edith and the general to follow, she escorted Blake to the great glass house, with its arched roof and wilderness of palms, ferns and flowers.

"I know this is not much of a treat to you," ventured Jessie. "I had forgotten that you have spent all of your life in California."

"But I have not spent all of my life in California," Blake said. "I lived in California only seven or eight years and had little chance to study flowers. What little knowledge I have of flowers dates back to my boyhood days in New England."

"New England? What part of New England, Mr. Blake?"

"Massachusetts," he answered proudly. "I was born in Boston, less than half a mile from where the tea was thrown overboard. My mother's name was Smith, so I'm a Yankee all over."

"So am I," laughed Jessie. "John Hancock once lived in the house where I was born, and Samuel Adams was there many, many times. I'm as much of a Hancock as Edith, though she won't admit it. Don't you like Boston better than San Francisco, Mr. Blake?"

"Really, I remember very little of Boston," replied Blake. "When I was a small boy we moved to Quincy, and from there to a farm near Hingham. That part of my New England life most vivid in my memory clusters round the old farm in Rocky Woods."

"Did you live in Rocky Woods?"

"The dark eyes opened wide and Jessie looked wonderingly into Blake's face."

"Why, yes, I lived there for several years. Do you mean to tell me that you ever heard of that desolate patch of rocks, pines, stone fences, huckleberry swamps and cranberry marshes?"

"Certainly I have. Uncle Tom—Mr. Bishop—lived there for a generation, and spends the summers there now. I have often been there. Isn't it strange, Mr. Blake, that both of us are familiar with that out-of-the-way country? Where was your father's farm?"

"It was then known as the old Leonard farm. Do you know where Peter Burt lived—Peter Burt, the old crazy man who used to play at night from the top of the big rock?"

"Yes," said Jessie softly, with a little catch at her breath as the blood mounted to her cheeks.

James Blake watched her face intently. Both were thinking of John Burt, but with what different emotions! Since the sun had set, a gulf had opened between John Burt and James Blake.

And Jessie Carden? Intuitively she felt that James Blake knew John Burt. In a flash it occurred to her that Blake's business with her father was a subterfuge. Was he the bearer of tidings from John Burt? Perhaps John was dead? If alive, why did he not come himself?

"And you knew John Burt? I remember now that he often spoke of you. He always called you 'Jim,' and rarely mentioned your last name. And you ran away from home. Did you ever meet John Burt in California, Mr. Blake?"

James Blake was not deceived by the careless tone in which she asked this question. With grim joy he reflected that John's injunction for secrecy was still in force. He must either mislead Jessie Carden or prove false to his friend; but for the first time the deceit was his own and not a sacrifice for another.

"Of course I knew John Burt," said Blake reflectively. "Dear old John; I owe him thirty-five dollars. When I ran away from home he gave me every dollar he had, and he not seen him since. Did you say he had gone to California? Is that so? No, I never saw him there. And you know him? Really, Miss Carden, I almost feel as if we were old acquaintances. Ah, here comes Mr. and Mrs. Bishop! I had no idea it was so late."

Mr. Thomas Bishop was introduced, and after a brief conversation, in which Jessie acquainted her uncle with the fact that their guest was formerly from Rocky Woods, Blake excused himself. He accepted an invitation to call again.

"Then we will continue our recollections of Rocky Woods, Miss Carden," he said on leaving.

Instructing his coachman to drive to his apartments, James Blake closed his eyes and attempted to calmly review what had happened. He found it impossible. One emotion held mastery over him—he was in love, madly and defiantly in love with Jessie Carden. He thought of Arthur Morris and hated him. He thought of John Burt and pitied him. Neither should stand in his way.

Could she be engaged to Arthur Morris? Now that he had met Jessie Carden he found himself unconsciously repeating John Burt's indignant declaration: "It is a lie; an infamous lie!" If an engagement did exist, it should be as a barrier of mist to his ardent progress. But she did not, she could not love Arthur Morris.

Did John Burt love her? Did she love John Burt?

These were the stinging, burning questions which seared his brain, but the clamor of his conscience was drowned in the louder din of his passion. He had not yet reached a point where, with calm selfishness he could voice the brutal aphorism of moral and physical desperados: "All is fair in love and war." He was eager to clear himself of self-accused loyalty to John Burt, and he clutched at any defense which would serve as possible justification or extenuation.

John Burt was his friend, the founder of his fortunes; the loyal, trustful comrade to whom he owed all he was or could hope to be. Blake knew this, and yet, with the truth confronting him and pleading for justice, the sophisticated arguments and evasions of a vaulting passion came readily to his lips.

"How do I know John loves her?" he pleaded. "He has not told me so. He has sent her no word. He could have done so easy enough. She does not know if he be dead or alive. Is that the way for a lover to act? If John has lost her it is his own fault. Perhaps he gave her up long ago. Honestly, I believe his hate for Morris is more to him than his affection for Jessie Carden."

Thus gubbed James Blake. Awakened love loosens a million eloquent tongues to plead for self, and pales the voice which should speak for others. The love of a man for a woman is the sublimation of his egotism; his unconscious exaltation of desire.
